

GDPR Essentials

The EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) became part of the UK's Data Protection Act in 2018 and continues to apply, as the UK GDPR, post-Brexit. All businesses that handle personal data must ensure that they are aware of the rules brought about by the GDPR and must examine the processes they currently have in place to ensure they continue to comply with the law.

WHO SHOULD TAKE THIS COURSE?

This GDPR training is suitable for anyone who has responsibility for implementing GDPR-compliant processes in their organisation. The course is designed for all services that use or hold personal data, both inside and outside of the EU.

COURSE CONTENTS

This course is split into four units:

- Aims of the GDPR, the Information Commissioner's Office, scope of the GDPR, sanctions, case studies and cybersecurity.
- Data protection terminology and the principles of data protection.
- Processing, Consent and Subject Rights
- Data Controller and Processor Obligations
